

South Central High School

SCHOLARSHIP HANDBOOK 2014 – 2015

Here you will find a compilation of local, post-secondary, provincial, 4-H, and national scholarships. Keep in mind that there is a lot of money out there for students, and by no means does this handbook contain all of the scholarships and awards available. It takes hard work and time to “hunt down” other scholarships, awards, and bursaries. As well, don’t feel that because your marks are not high enough you will not qualify....there are awards available for students entering particular fields of study, financial needs, etc. In addition, please check with your parents to see if their employers offer any scholarships. Many do!

I encourage you to apply for as many scholarships as you can. Happy scholarship hunting.

5 Steps to Winning Scholarships

Step 1: Search

There are thousands of scholarships, awards and grants available to help finance your education! Many scholarships are awarded on academic achievement. However, other awards are awarded for athletic involvement, leadership, community service, area of interest and the institution you plan on attending.

- Visit the ALIS Scholarships website to find various scholarships and awards.
- Check out the post-secondary institution you plan to attend for possible scholarships and entrance awards.
- Search online using a free search tool like Studentawards.com (login required).
- Talk to your parents and/or relatives – they may be members of a club or organization or their employer may offer awards to family members.
- Talk to your high school guidance counsellor.
- Find more tips for searching for scholarships by reviewing these tip sheets.

Step 2: Apply

- Complete the appropriate scholarship application form. Keep a copy.
- Do you meet the requirements as outlined on the application?
- Apply well before the application deadline.
- Mail your application before the deadline (a late application may not be accepted).
- Keep extra letters of recommendation and transcripts on hand (it will save you time when applying for more than one award).
- Follow-up with award sponsor before the deadline to make sure your application was received.

Step 3: Write the Essay

- Write that essay; if an essay is a requirement, it may be the deciding factor.
- Give yourself plenty of time.
- Read the instructions carefully, and seek advice from a family member, friend, teacher or counsellor.
- Go for quality, rather than quantity.
- Use clear and concise language and avoid the use of slang.
- Review your essay. Read it aloud. Refine it.
- Proofread! Better still, have someone read and proofread your essay.
- Keep a copy on file - with a few changes you may be able to use it for another scholarship.

Step 4: Get the Money

- Make sure you meet all the conditions to receive the money: full-time enrollment, maintaining residency, institution you are attending, etc.
- If you move, advise the scholarship donor of your new address.
- If you are required to attend an awards ceremony, luncheon, etc., be there, be gracious and dress appropriately.
- Thank the donor, when appropriate.

Step 5: Maintain Your Scholarship Potential

- Keep your marks, athletics, leadership and volunteer work at an outstanding level and continue to look for scholarships as you progress through your studies.
- Be positive. Believe in yourself and in your chances of winning a scholarship. It takes hard work and time, but the rewards are well worth the effort

ADDITIONAL AWARDS

It is important for students to ask their parents if there are any scholarships, bursaries, and awards offered through their place of employment. In many instances scholarships and awards are offered only to children of company employees.

A variety of scholarships and awards can also be applied for through The Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada. This organization administers many scholarships and awards on behalf of governments, various foundations and private companies. Their website can be found at: www.aucc.ca
